

International Learning Community Films Fall 2017

28 August (Monday) @ 7 pm, Arnold 113

Sanjay's Super Team (2015)

"Bored with his father's meditation, a young Indian boy daydreams of Hindu gods as superheroes." This Oscar-nominated animated short film was written and directed by Sanjay Patel.

9 October (Monday) @ 7 pm, Arnold 113

Daughters of the Dust (1991)

"Languid look at the Gullah culture of the sea islands off the coast of South Carolina and Georgia where African folk-ways were maintained well into the 20th Century and was one of the last bastions of these mores in America. Set in 1902." Winner of a Sundance Film Festival Award, a special New York Film Critics Circle Award, a National Film Preservation Board Award, and a special Boston Society of Film Critics Award.

30 October (Monday) @ 7 pm, Arnold 113

Half the Sky (2012)

"A passionate call-to-arms, urging us not only to bear witness to the plight of the world's women, but to help to transform their oppression into opportunity. Our future is in the hands of women everywhere." Written by Michelle Ferrari and directed by Maro Chermayeff, this documentary includes such popular culture figures and celebrities as Nicholas Kristof, America Ferrera, Gabrielle Union, and Eva Mendes.

1 December (Friday) @ 12:30pm, Schuster 130

The Spectre of Hope (2002)

"The Spectre of Hope is based on the latest work of photographer Sebastiao Salgado. Salgado spent 6 years traveling to over 40 countries, taking picture of globalization and its consequences – most notably, the mass migrations of populations around the world. In the film, Salgado presents his remarkable photographs in conversation with John Berger."

All information listed above is from the "Internet Movie Database" (www.imdb.org).